PASTOR MAVE MOYER

In this year of 2014
Expect to see the more
As I pour out my spirit
In the year of the open door....

You will feel the fire....
As I refine your heart to mine
Till the beauty of my holiness
Through your life will rise and shine

And the wind of my spirt
Will blow encouragement and grace
To empower my people
To run and win the race....

It will bring life to the downcast
And new hope to the cast away
The winds of my presence
Blows open the door on a new day

A season of renewing
In the world I will continue the shaking
Until you see a great awakening

Rise up sons and daughters...
This is your jurisdiction and your place..
You have the ability to bind and loose
By the power of my grace

My words in your mouth are the weapon
That brings heaven's reality to the earth.
whatever you say and believe ...you'll receive
As I pour out heavens worth...

When you agree with your Father's words.
It brings great joy to my heart
And shows me....that you believe
And my spirit will impart....

And you will feel the wind...the shaking and quaking
As heaven releases into the earth
The fullness of My glory
And the treasures of My worth

A year of changing mind sets
As transformation is My plan
That the love and life of Jesus
Would be seen in every woman every man...

It will be a year of acceleration
As God moves things quickly into place
It's not a time for slowing down
Heavens picking up the pace

Angels of break Through are dispatched
As MY word is established and comes to be
All that you need is in your mouth
When your words line up with me....

The power of agreement
Brings possibility in the impossible place
This year will be supernatural
When speaking my word is the case....

Yes this year...agree with me
And speak my Kingdom into being
Calling things forth..establish my plan
By seeing and decreeing.....

In 2014 I will cleanse my temple
The one I have in you
Until the beauty of my holiness
Shines in and then shines through

And I will prepare my people
As I pour out.....the more
And you will be made ready
In this year of the Open Door

I had a vision of the Queen....I saw her raising her hand and speaking a blessing...I saw the clock and it was almost eleven...and I saw her royal cape being shifted...

I felt that this year a stronger Kingdom reality was going to be established...
A stronger spiritual reign and realm....and a greater authority of God will be made manifest...through our lives....

We are emerging a stronger.... bolder army of witnesses that will bring the truth of the gospel and will not walk in the fear of man but will rise up in the fear of The Lord and speak the un-compromised word of God over the issues and circumstances of life and the lives of others....and we will see transformation....

I saw by the clock that we were almost to the final hour....Time is accelerating and it's time to run the race....heavens time clock is ticking...time to pick up the pace....

Kingdom understanding....revelation...and spiritual knowledge will increase as we begin to move like never before by the Spirit of God...seeing and decreeing and believing God for the establishment of those things we are believing for....

Looking forward to 2014....A year quite like it...has never been!!!
